Memorial Information Brochure

Memorialisation a time-honored tradition

Memorialisation is a time-honored tradition that has been practiced by people through the centuries. As survivors we care about and want to remember those who precede us in death. Memorialisation helps us to remember and to be remembered. Selecting and establishing a permanent memorial for a family member or loved one not only satisfies an immediate need, but it also fulfills the need to preserve our heritage. Memorials are stepping-stones to both the past, and to the future. They link generations together.
